XI. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow :

There is a saying in English that the greatest man in history is the poorest. Shastriji who embraced poverty would have become rich in his life time. But he never thought of it. When he was Home Minister his grandson once approached him for a new slate to write upon it. Shastriji told him, "Wait for two more days. I shall bring it on the first when I get my salary." That is how Shastriji used to be. Prudent economy came naturally to Lal Bahadur.

Even after becoming a minister, he adopted austere living. He was not greedy of money. One day an old friend of him visited his house. He was then the Home Minister. Lal Bahadur told him that his wife is away and as such he could not offer him dinner. The friend was surprised to know that Lalitaji is still cooking, being a minister's wife. He suggested Shastriji to engage a cook. Then Shastriji asked his friend, "But where is the money for a servant ?"

49. What was Lal Bahadur Shastri when his friend visited him ? 1

50. Who, according to the author of this passage, is the greatest man ? 1

51. Why couldn't Shastri offer dinner to his friend ? 1

52. "Wait for two more days."
Who was asked to wait ? 1

53. What did he want to give him after two days ? 1

54. Why was Shastri's friend surprised ? 1
