Then the old man rose with a great effort and took the bowl between his shaking hands and he went to the other basket. There, while the vendor watched, the old man pulled aside the quilt until one could see the shrunken face of a small boy lying with his eyes fast closed.

One would have said the child was dead except that, when the old man lifted his head so his mouth could touch the edge of the little bowl he began to swallow feebly until the hot mixture was finished. The old man kept murmuring to him.

"There, my heart - there, my child".

"Your grandson?" said the vendor.

"Yes, said the old man". The son of my only son. Both my son and his wife were drowned as they worked on our land when the dikes broke.

Questions :

In today's world it is still possible to live a healthy life without medication. Some of the causes for falling ill are; Eating food with no nutritional value, drinking polluted water, breathing polluted air, living in polluted environment, smoking, chewing tobacco, drinking liquor, constipation, no cleanliness, lack of sound sleep and exercise.

It is unfortunate that the above causes are growing without control in our country due to which the society is suffering. Man has been exploiting nature beyond one's imagination. It is a pity that man has totally forgotten that he is after all a baby in the cradle of Mother Nature, along with her creatures. He has taken for granted that every creation in this world is meant for his personal use. Unless man understands his role he will be doomed.

The earth has been polluted with use of chemicals. In today's cultivated crops there is hardly any nutritional value. By taking such food, the health gets deeply affected. In addition, it may have a tolling effect on the future generation - Large quantities of such contaminated food will not produce the desired effect on health. Food consumed should be limited, containing lots of proteins and vitamins.
