The pattern of question paper for the year 2019-2020 for the class 10 has been modified in order to cater to the students of Third Language English, to express their ideas in more of descriptive manner. This will help the learners in acquiring vocabulary and its usage in a creative expression. This pattern of question paper allows the students to think creatively beyond the text and gives scope for language learning, which helps them in their future levels. Hence the weightage for long answers questions that demand the answers in descriptive manner has been raised and the weightage for the objective forms of question has been minimized.

The following table gives the comparative view of number of questions in different types.

CCE RF/RR

Sl. No	Types of questions	Previous year		Current year
		No of questions	Marks	No of questions	Marks
1	MCQ	9	9	8	8
2	VSA	16	16	8	8

5	LA2 [4 Marks]	4	16	4	16
6	LA3 [5 Marks]			1	5
	Total	46	80	38	80

The total number of questions is restricted to 38. 1 mark, 3 marks and one five marks questions have been newly introduced. Essay writing is introduced in order to cater to the creative writing. The topics for essay would be covered based on the themes which students have already familiar with. Though the reading comprehension that is passage, has four sub questions, it is considered as one question of four marks. The grammar and vocabulary items would be covered from the content. The difficulty level is maintained as, easy 30%, average 50% and difficulty level is 20%.

MCQ, VSA and SA questions take 40% and descriptive questions i.e. 3 marks, 4 marks and 5 marks questions take 60% of the question paper. The unit wise weightage has been squashed and weightage is fixed on themes, i.e. prose, poetry, supplementary reader, grammar and vocabulary, and composition. The question paper is designed in such a way that it leads from easy to difficult level. The marks are graded orderly, starting from 1 mark question to 5 marks question.

Blueprint will not be provided by the board.

Weightage for the content, Objectives and Difficulty level is mentioned. Teachers are free to prepare their own question paper based on these weightages.

The table below gives the picture of weightage to content domain with respect to marks.
