

Write a short note on immunization.

Immunization is the artificial method to make defense cells alert against the attack of pathogens. Vaccines are the substances used for artificial immunization. These act as antigens that stimulate defense mechanism of the body. Antibodies are formed against them.