People talk of memorials to him in statues of bronze or marble or pillars and thus they mock him and belie his message. What tribute shall we pay to him that he would have appreciated? He has shown us the way to live and the way to die and if we have not understood that lesson, it would be better that we raised no memorial to him, for the only fit memorial is to follow reverently in the path he showed us and to do our duty in life and in death.

To him India was dear because she had represented throughout the ages certain immutable truths. But though he was intensely religious and came to be called the father of the nation which he had liberated, yet no narrow religious or national bonds confined his spirit. And so he became the greatest internationalist, believing in the essential unity of man, the underlying unity of all religions and the need of humanity and more specially in giving himself to the service of the poor, the distressed and the oppressed millions everywhere. We realize that his dominating passion was truth. That truth led him to proclaim that good ends can never be attained by the evil methods.

Questions.

- a) What according to the author is the only fit memorial for the great man?
- b) Why is this great man known as an internationalist?

XII. 44 Write an essay of about 18 to 20 sentences on any one of the following topics. 1 x 5 = 5
