The next room, a broad gallery about the quarter of a mile long, was devoted to publicity, and it well may be imagined what the publicity for such a journal as the earth herald had to be. It brought in a daily average of three million dollars. They are gigantic signs reflected on the clouds, so large that they can be seen all over a whole country. From that gallery a thousand projectors were unceasingly employed in sending to the clouds, on which they were reproduced in colour, these inordinate advertisements. At that movement the clock struck twelve. The director of the earth Herald left the hall and sat down in a rolling armchair. In a few minutes he had reached his dining room half a mile away, at the fair end of the office.

44 Make notes or write a summary of the following passage.

With the invention of televisions, many forms of entertainment have been replaced. Lively programs like television serials and world news, have removed from us the need to read books or papers, to listen to radios or even to watch movies. Indeed, the television brings the world into our house. Ends, by staying at home and pressing some buttons world happenings are immediately presented before us. Children nowadays develop faster in language, owing to the early exposure to television programmes. At a tender age, it would be difficult for them to read books or papers. Thus, television programmes are a good source. It extremely benefits to working parents who are usually too busy or tired to take the kids out for entertainment. Television programmes remove the need to think. Despite the disadvantages of watching television programmes, personally, I think that choosing the 'middle path', which is to do selective television viewing and not over indulging in the habit should be the best solution to reconcile both the merits and demerits of owning a television.

47. Read the following paragraph and answer the questions given below:

Speech is a great blessing but it can also be a great curse, for while it helps us to make our inventions and desires known to the others, it can also, if we use it carelessly, make our attitude completely understood. A slip of the tongue, the use of unusual word, or of an ambiguous word, may create an enemy where we had hoped to win a friend. Again different classes of people use different words, and the ordinary speech of an educated man may create the impression to an uneducated listener that he was showing off with his skill: Unwittingly we may use a word which bears a different meaning to our listener from what it does to a man of his own class. Thus speech is not a gift to use lightly without thought but one which demands careful handling: Only a fool would express himself alike to all kinds and conditions of people and situations.

Question:

- a. In what way is speech a blessing to mankind?
- b. Describe how words could make an enemy out of someone you would like to be a friend?
- c. Why is an educated man's speech considered boastful by an uneducated listener?
- d. How should speech be used?

Read the following poem and answer the questions given below

Lies beauty In doing duty
Right in time indeed!
The best of prayers ever it's
For you and I and all
It eases head and pleases heart
And keeps off restless life on earth.
Earn it will a place in heaven
when time comes, life beyond less of duty or devoid of it
Is just to kill our conscience alone
Where is right for us to claim
If duty is not discharged at all?

Questions:

- a. Where does our beauty lie?
- b. How does doing duty help us all?
- c. what does doing duty keep off?
- d. what are the ills of not doing one's duty?
